

41st City Council District

Kathleen Daniel (D)

My purpose is to build, restore and safeguard the communities of the 41st District. A good public education for our children is a civil right. I will continue my work to improve schools, provide better options for parents and attract new schools in the areas of science, technology and art. Schools in our neighborhood do not receive the kind of support others get. I will fight to change that and strengthen the parent voice throughout the city. Part of my three-pronged approach to build, restore and safeguard the communities of the 41st District is to address two urgent problems: gun violence and unemployment. The residents of the 41st have been suffering with a 20% unemployment rate. I will work to create jobs by attracting new businesses and organizations devoted to job training. There is no advancement in quality of life without the preservation of life. This year's first summer days saw 25 senseless shootings. Passing stronger gun laws and improving enforcement is a necessity. In District 41, we are in crisis. I've spent a career serving my community with non-profit and healthcare organizations. I'm raising two kids here as my Caribbean parents raised me. Our quality of life is held hostage by crime, poor schools, unemployment and failed leadership. We deserve better. I am committed to building our community through education, skills building, restoring jobs and safeguarding our streets from the horror of gun violence. With strong leadership and collaboration, together we can build a brighter future for our families.
