

48th City Council District

Chaim M. Deutsch (D)

Hello, my name is Chaim Deutsch and I am a lifelong Brooklynite, currently running for the 48th City Council seat, which includes the neighborhoods of Midwood, Manhattan Beach and Brighton Beach. As the founder of the Flatbush Shomrim Safety Patrol, staffer to Council Member Mike Nelson, and dedicated husband, father and grandfather, I have been fighting for our community for the past 22 years. As our next Council Member, I will: Leverage relationships with federal, state and local elected officials to secure the resources necessary to preserving the vitality of our precious waterfront; I will fight to put more cops back on the street and assign an officer to each of our neighborhoods to address ongoing quality of life concern; I will expand senior housing options for those living on fixed incomes; I will demand that senior center funding is baselined in the City budget and see that breakfast programs for seniors are reinstated; I will combat the horribly underreported problem of elder abuse and increase manpower and resources to stop the growing problem of deception crimes and identity theft; I will work hand-in-hand with parents, teachers and retired educators to get to the reasons behind failing schools and keep our children from falling behind; And I will help small businesses thrive and grow by cutting governmental red tape and eliminating unwarranted fines and unnecessary restrictions. Working with the local leaders we know and trust, I have seen that together we can rise to any challenge and make a real difference for our communities in southern Brooklyn. Now I am asking for your support to take my commitment to another level for the neighborhoods we love. Please vote for me, Chaim Deutsch, on Election Day. Thank you for your support.
