

Mayor

Christine C. Quinn (D)

Hi, I'm Christine Quinn. First, thanks for watching. Today, I want to tell you, in the short time we have, why I'm running to be New York City's next mayor. My father was a union electrical worker. My mother was a social worker. They had to work hard every day to make ends meet. Today, too many families like mine are struggling. That's why as Mayor my top priority will be keeping the city a place for the middle class and everyone working to join it. That starts with creating thousands of new manufacturing, tech, and green jobs in all five boroughs. It means making sure that every neighborhood has quality public schools that focus on college and career-readiness, not teaching to the test. and it means expanding affordable housing with the most ambitious middle-class housing plan in city history. I'll also make sure New York City remains the safest big city in America while we improve police-community relations. We can't afford to take a step back in the fight against crime. You can download my Ideas App to see all of my ideas and full vision for the city or go to my website quinnfornewyork.com. New Yorkers need a Mayor who doesn't just talk about delivering for the middle class, but one who has a real record getting results. That's what I've done as Speaker: passing eight on-time balanced budgets that protected teachers and kept firehouses and libraries open, expanding pre-K with 10,000 more full day seats, helping small businesses create jobs, protecting a woman's right to choose with groundbreaking clinic access legislation, standing up for tenants, and passing living wage legislation to put more money in the pockets of working New Yorkers. And that's what I'll do as Mayor. The middle class built our city and I'll work hard for them every single day.
