

Mayor

Erick Salgado (D)

Hello and thank you for caring enough about New York City to watch this informational video. I'm Erick Salgado and I'm running for Mayor. I know this City. I've spent 24 years helping the residents of its diverse communities and as a businessman I've created and grown businesses that have employed my fellow New Yorkers. Safety is my first priority. I want you and your family to not only be safe, but to feel safe as you walk our streets, ride the subways and relax in your homes. This is why I will restore the ranks of the Police Department to the level we had during Mayor Giuliani's administration. I will also eliminate all quotas. Creating jobs for New Yorkers is another priority. Collectively, small businesses are our City's largest employer. I will remove the obstacles City Hall creates that prevent businesses from thriving. As local businesses grow so does the number of jobs they create for New Yorkers. I will also use tax incentives to encourage the creation of new jobs and give New York firms priority in the bidding process for City contracts. For New Yorkers to be qualified for a job they need a good education. The Department of Education must meet the needs of the students. I will increase parental involvement, including a grade from parents in teacher evaluations. I will also conduct a system-wide audit to determine which programs are successful and disseminate that information to all teachers and principals. Again, thank you for your interest in the Mayoral race. Together we can keep this City great.
